Taken to the cleaners

Cost of clearing up after travellers tops £7,000 ... and it's council taxpayers who foot the bill

BIANCA CASTRO

bianca.castro@hertsexsexnews.co.uk

TAXPAYERS in Harlow have been landed with a bill for thousands of pounds to clear up illegal traveller encampments in the town.

The clean-up costs incurred by Harlow Council - including clearing away human excrement, bags of rubbish and litter - so far this year are £7,800.

A further £5,400 has been spent on county court proceedings trying to evict travellers from various sites around the town.

And the council has forked out more than £25,000 during the past few years erecting bollards, wooden posts, gates and digging ditches in an attempt to protect open spaces.

As of yesterday (Wednesday) there were two encampments on Harlow Council land, one at Latton Common and a second on Harlow Common.

Of the 26 caravans on the roadside in Third Avenue, pictured above right, 15 moved to Harlow Common after being served a section 61 notice by police on Tuesday.

A further six caravans have moved onto land owned by Essex County Council at Coldharbour Road and another seven are parked up on the privately-owned Nortel site at London Road.

Harlow Council is currently taking legal action against travellers on both sites and is working with the owners of the Nortel site to find a resolution.

Emma Toal, Harlow Council's portfolio holder for youth and community, said: "We are as concerned as residents about the ongoing cost of cleaning up after illegal encampments and the legal costs."

"It is council taxpayers who end up picking up the bill as there is very little any council can do. We understand residents' anger and we will always prosecute where there is a reasonable chance of success of recovering costs."

"Where there are allegations of criminal damage to property and other criminal offences the council expects the police to investigate and to take appropriate action."

Harlow MP Robert Halfon said he believed the police could do more to help tackle the problem.

In May he wrote to letter to Essex police and crime commissioner Nick Alston about a previous encampment and is hoping to arrange a meeting to discuss the issue.

He told the Star: "I am tabling a Commons motion about the illegal traveller encampments and about section 61 notices."

"I would be the first to have a go at Harlow Council but in this situation they are doing everything they can. I think it is the police who should be using section 61 notices more and they need to be much more proactive."

"If the illegal encampments had been dealt with at the start then we would not have this problem now."

Cllr Toal said residents should report any incidents of anti-social behaviour to Contact Harlow on (01279) 446655 or to the police on 101, adding: "It is important that incidents are reported and recorded so that the police are in a position to take appropriate action."

An Essex Police spokeswoman said: "A section 61 notice under the Criminal Justice and Public Order Act 1994 was served on the group occupying land at Third Avenue. They were required to leave by 9am on Wednesday, July 9 and departed before that time."

"Travellers remain on land at Latton Common and we are continuing to speak to the travellers, the local community and the council."

Labour fails to reverse street lights blackout

A BID to scrap the street lights switch-off in Essex has failed.

Labour county councillors called for lights to remain on between midnight and 5am until public concerns over safety are addressed.

However, the motion was defeated by 38 votes to 36 when it was debated on Tuesday.

Harlow Labour parliamentary candidate Suzy Stride, who has launched a petition against the switch-off, said: "I'm really disappointed that a majority of county councillors have refused to give people in Harlow the right to have their say."

"Our petition will continue and we will keep fighting for local people who want the lights switched back on."

CLL Mike Danvers, who sits on both Harlow Council and Essex County Council, added: "Fear of crime is rising, with people in Harlow feeling particularly vulnerable. People want the street lights switched back on and the Labour group is committed to delivering this"

A county council spokesman said: "We have ensured those lights which meet the exception criteria are excluded from the scheme, such as town centres, key road junctions and accident cluster sites."

"The council has been working closely with the emergency services and responds to representation from them regarding any areas which they believe should be exempt from the part-night lighting scheme."

More than 70 per cent of Essex's 127,000 street lights are now switched off. Essex Police has previously said crime has fallen in that period since the blackout.

Competition win caps a grand day out for Amy

AN aspiring Formula 1 engineer from Harlow is the proud owner of British Grand Prix winner Lewis Hamilton's cap.

Amy Jane Thomas, 20, of Rundells, won the headgear worn by the F1 driver at Sunday's race at Silverstone in a competition on Facebook and Twitter.

"I felt overwhelmed when I found out I had won because I was actually at the Grand Prix at the weekend," she said. "I think I screamed a little too loudly."

Amy, pictured left, whose dream is to become Hamilton's race engineer, has just finished her BTEC National Diploma in manufacturing engineering at Harlow College, for which she received the highest grades.

"I have wanted to be a race engineer in Formula One since I was about 11 years old but didn't realise I could actually do it until I started college," she added.

"I have loved racing and Formula One for as long as I can remember."

Dog owner's victory in rail fence crusade

bianca.castro@hertsessexnews.co.uk

A DEAF woman whose hearing dog was killed by a train when it ran on to rail lines near Harlow station has won her five-year campaign to have fencing erected alongside a stretch of track near the Town Park.

Kim Herbert, 55, of Altham Grove, Harlow, said this week she was over- come with emotion when she saw Network Rail had erected the barrier.

"I was gasping for air and crying at the same time," she said. "It was the sheer scale of the thing that knocked me off balance and the fact that we had won."

Ms Herbert's dog Cassie was killed after running on to the line while the pair were out walking in Maymeads Marsh in 2009.

Soon after she launched a campaign and online petition calling on Network Rail to improve safety by fencing off the stretch of track running between Harlow Town station and the Templefields industrial estate.

At first Network Rail refused to erect barriers along the path, insisting that trackside borders were fit for purpose.

Ms Herbert said: "Ever since I started this campaign Network Rail has been saying that public safety along the track was adequate, that they had no duty of care to domestic dogs and the lack of fencing was legal, despite there being no physical barrier to prevent access."

"They said vegetation was sufficient. They kept saying it was fenced with a post and wire which was very much invisible and did nothing to prevent people from accessing the track either."

EMOTIONAL: Left, Kim Herbert has won her battle to have a fence erected alongside rail tracks near Harlow Town station, above

Last year Harlow Council installed safety fencing along one of the most dangerous sections of pathway.

Then around three months ago Ms Herbert was advised during a Town Park Users Group meeting that the council and green team volunteers had been asked to lower the water levels in the streams to enable Network Rail to install fencing.

"Since then and not wishing to get my hopes up, I checked periodically for this fence to appear. Last week when I decided to have another check I was totally, totally stunned."

"I went up the railway bridge and looked over and couldn't believe my eyes. What I saw was about a quarter of a mile, possibly more, of palisade fencing - exactly what we had been asking for and been constantly denied."

Network Rail has now erected safety fencing on both sides of the track and behind the streams."

Ms Herbert added: "This part of the park is so beautiful and it was our favourite place but after what happened, it became the worst place on earth. I couldn't even look there without remembering the horror of that night."

"Now, the whole atmosphere has changed; there is a kind of peace there once more. I just wish it didn't take the death of my beloved dog to make this happen."

A Network Rail spokeswoman said: "The reason we installed the fencing was because we inspected the area and found a change of land use and signs of trespass."

"The land next to the original fencing was previously scrubland but is now being used by members of the public which is why we have installed new fencing on this stretch of railway."

"We have replaced the post and wire fencing with new palisade fencing at Harlow Town station."

wherever you live in HarlowSIR Cllr Simon Carter, in his reply to my letter (Star, June 26), claims the county council does not control bus routes or timetables.He is probably correct but they are responsible for the placing of the bus lanes which make it easier for the buses to keep to their timetables. He chose not to answer my point which is there are no bus lanes in the direction of Staple Tye.Cllr Carter then diversifies into issues that are clearly party political. He suggested that the current Labour-run council has misappropriated £400,000 which suggests something illegal. If this is so, why has he not reported it to the police?He states that Church Langley received only half the improvement funds of the other wards. Again this may be true but it is also true that the area is not as old as the other wards and therefore probably does not require the improvements.He suggests that the householders of Church Langley pay more council tax than any other areas. This is clearly not true; they pay their council tax at the same rate as all the rest of Harlow. Like-for-like, the council tax is the same wherever you live in the town.Roger McAlpine's letter in the same edition supplies a dictionary definition of 'village'
but nowhere in that definition does it state that the village is within the boundaries of a town as Church Langley clearly is. By his description Harlow would be a group of villages like Katherineines, Sumners, Potter Street village and so on.The residents of Church Langley pay their council tax to Harlow Council. Not only is Church Langley in Harlow, it is a part of Potter Street where I lived for many years. I remember it used to be Soper's Farm which dated back to long before the new town was built.Mr McAlpine claims it takes a 10-minute bus ride to reach the town, about the same time it takes from Potter Street. However, it takes longer than that from the town station to Staple Tye... if you can get one.There are several villages around Harlow
but none of them pay council tax to Harlow and none of them are connected to Harlow.

J. M. Gamble

Brookles Mead, Harlow

Church Langley is just one of the town's neighbourhoodsSIR Church Langley is not a village near to Harlow, whatever Roger McAlpine might believe.Harlow was built on the basis of local neighbourhoods made up of residential areas with various local services and Church Langley is one of those. It's very much part of Harlow.Like most of the other such neighbourhoods it is a shortish bus ride from the town centre, which is presumably what Mr McAlpine was referring to when he wrote about it taking 'a 10-minute journey to reach the town of Harlow itself'.It doesn't - the town of Harlow is where he already is before he gets on that bus.

in the subject line.definition of a village for Church Langley (Letters, July 3), I looked up the definition of 'snob', which seems to fit Mr McAlpine to a T.It reads: "A person who has an exaggerated respect for high social position, and looks down on people he regards as inferior to himself."It's a shame when the planning was going through for the 'village' of Church Langley that the planners did not put in a junction 7a on the M11. That way it would have saved all of the poor people of Harlow the traffic jams that are suffered daily because of the congestion caused by having such a big
'village' dropped on our doorstep.

When I went to school it was normal to sit GCE exams earlySIR I was interested to read in the e-edition of last week's Star that Burnt Mill School is going to allow pupils to sit GCSE exams early.When I was a pupil at Latton Bush more years ago than I care to remember it was quite normal for able pupils to sit GCE exams - particularly maths and general science - earlier than their peers in order to leave time in their busy time tables for other subjects or even to begin A-level studies early.It was quite normal in those days for pupils to take up to 12 examinations at O-level, and I can remember at least two fellow pupils who passed all 12 with excellent grades.

Why should council tenants pay twice for same services?SIR While I agree that our town is in a state, I think it should be made clear the counciltax that all residents pay - including council tenants who still make up one third of our town - is not in any way used to finance the decent homes programme.Even though the council had paid back the perceived loan for building the town's council housing, the government still took all rents and only gave back what it thought we needed, which is why our housing stock is in such a poor state of repair.The council should have completed decent homes in 2010. It had the money but used it to subsidise the council tax account. This happened again in 2012 and the council got an extension to complete by 2015.Here we are in 2014 and council tenants still syphoning council house rent money into its council tax account. The questions we should be asking are:Why the council is not operating within its council tax budget?Why is the council discriminating against council tenants by making them pay twice for the same services?Why do we have such an expensive top heavy council?Why does the council only look after itself and do nothing for its residents?

It seems we are going back to the days of the 1950sSIR I totally disagree with either The Playhouse or Pets' Corner being closed.There are also a lot of young children who go to ballet, hip hop pop and drama at The Playhouse. Where will they all go if it closes?
The nearest theatre will be Bishop's Stortford or Stevenage and not everyone has transport.As for Pets' Corner, why not just charge 20p each? Don't close it; there is nowhere else for little ones to go. I have always taken my granddaughter there and she loves it.

I moved to Harlow in the 1950s and there was nothing here then. Harlow grew and grew but now we are going back to those days of the '50s.Why is it other towns have so much more than we do? Even housing is getting to be a joke? My children have no chance of being housed; they will have to buy and they were born in Harlow.But that doesn't seem to matter to our council. We have people from London moving here and being housed but that's another matter.Please, please do not close The Playhouse or Pets' Corner.Sandra Sinclair

reason for threat to servicesSIR Conservative councillors Andrew Johnson and Joel Charles make me laugh.They criticise Labour's consultation exercise asking Harlow residents to give their thoughts on the funding of local services whilst neglecting to mention that it is their fellow Tories in Westminster who are responsible for cuts having to be made.Since 2011 David Cameron's cronies have slashed Harlow's grant by 50 per cent with more cuts planned in the future.Looking for someone to blame Councillor had the money I would love to turn it into a lovely for old people.Most homes are so big that there is not much time for carers to spend with them but in a small place you could have that time to address suppliedFed up with football, tired of

there who are heartily sick and tired of the wall-to-wall sport that we are being forced to endure?There are many, I'm sure, who have absolutely no interest in over paid prima donnas chasing a bag of wind round a field in an attempt to kick it into a net while a bunch of chanting, scarf-waving tribalists look on.Nor can we see the fascination of two people knocking a ball over a net while an audience of people with necks designed, it seems, to perpetually swivel from side to side, sit in the pouring rain eating obscenely overpriced strawberries and cream.But worst of all is the severe disruption caused to many motorists, businesses and the general public by a swarm of lycra clad disrupting our lives.It's the Tour de France for goodness sake.

Judge's jail warning to prolific burglar

ONE of the country's most prolific teenage burglars has been remanded in custody after he admitted committing more offences.

Bradley Wernham, formerly of Harlow, was at the centre of a public outcry four years ago after a crown court judge let him go free even though he admitted nearly 700 offences involving around £1m worth of property.

Wernham, who was 19 at the time, was placed on a taxpayer-funded rehabilitation scheme and given a free flat and job training.

But Wernham rewarded the judge's leniency by resuming his life of crime just three months later and was subsequently jailed for five years after an incident in which he was caught trying to break into a house.

He was freed from prison after serving only 18 months of the sentence.

Yesterday (Wednesday) Wernham, now 23, was remanded in custody after pleading guilty via video link from prison to charges of burglary, aggravated vehicle taking and attempted burglary.

Sentence was adjourned until Friday but after being made aware of his previous criminal record judge Charles Gratwicke warned him another custodial sentence is almost inevitable.

Chelmsford Crown Court was told that in the latest offences he took car keys and laptops in a burglary at Westbury Rise, Harlow, in April, caused damage to a £35,000 Mercedes in Stocking Pelham and carried out a failed burglary at Buntingford by entering a garden with intent to steal.

Protestors wage a war on waste

PROTEST: Supporters of the Taxpayers Alliance in Harlow town centre on Saturday as part of a tour targeting 'wasteful' councils

PROTESTORS staged a demonstration in Harlow over the weekend against wasteful spending by local authorities.

The TaxPayers' Alliance War on Waste Roadshow arrived in Broad Walk on Saturday with TPA staff and supporters protesting against wasteful spending.

According to the TPA the Government spent some £718bn last year but too much of it delivered little or no value to the taxpayer.

It said the roadshow, which made 29 stops across England and Wales over nine days, would expose just how much taxpayers' money is wasted by politicians and bureaucrats.

A TPA spokesman said: "Far too much taxpayers' money is wasted, keeping taxes high and taking precious resources away from essential services. It's time for a war on waste right across the public sector."

"If he's to be taken seriously as a man to cut the cost of the public sector, Ed Miliband must pledge to cut unnecessary spending."

"It would be nothing short of immoral to saddle the next generation with our trillion-pound debt mountain.

"We need to strip out wasteful and unnecessary spending and start living within our means again."

"For too long taxpayers' money has been spent with impunity, with little accountability and not enough transparency."

"The War on Waste hopes to change that and remind those we trust with our money that we're watching how it is spent very carefully indeed."

Speaking after the event, a spokesman said: "We met up with local supporters in the town centre to tell people how the Government and Harlow Council and Essex County Council are wasting money which should be left in local people's pockets by cutting council tax. Examples include [Harlow Council] spending £20,000 on a glossy magazine to boast about themselves."

Harlow MP Robert Halfon also attended the protest.

Teenager attacked in cycle track robbery

A TEENAGER was struck on the head and robbed on one of Harlow's cycle paths.

The 17-year-old victim, who lives in the town, was on the cycle path between Southern Way and Pyenest Road at 9.35pm on Friday, June 27 when he was attacked.

He was hit on the head before his assailant stole a small amount of money.

The victim, who did not get a look at his attacker, was helped by a man whom police are keen to talk to. He is described as white, aged about 60, of medium build with short grey hair.

Anyone with information robbery is asked to contact PC Louise Howell on the non-emergency 101 number.

TOUR de FRANCE 2014

▼ North Weald

The day France came to

AS the dust settled after the world's best cyclists raced through Essex on Monday, officials hailed the arrival of the Tour de France as a "historic day" for the county.

It is estimated that more than one million people turned up to watch stage three, which started in Cambridge and passed through Essex on its way to the finish line in London.

Tens of thousands of spectators lined the route in Uttlesford, Braintree, Chelmsford and Epping Forest as the area's beautiful countryside grabbed the world's attention.

In North Weald and Epping High Street cheering crowds turned out in force to catch a glimpse of the peloton.

Audrey White, owner of News Shop in North Weald High Road, said: "It was absolutely excellent. Watching it on TV doesn't come close."

"It was chock-a-block in North Weald; it was brilliant and I have been very busy."

India Lawlor, owner of Islington Green Flowers in High Road, added:

"It's been fantastic today; there's been lots of people and a really good atmosphere."

"It will really put North Weald on the map. It's really good for this area."

Ann Naylor, Essex County Council's cabinet member for public health and wellbeing, said: "This has been an amazing day for Essex. The colour and atmosphere to celebrate the tour has shown the world our fantastic county."

"The turnout was wonderful with so many people supporting the Tour in Essex. Billions have watched the race on TV around the world and can only have been impressed by our idyllic landscape and enthusiastic residents and visitors."

"The fantastic success of the Tour de France in Essex is just another example of how we are able to host world-class sporting events and it is a day the whole county will look back on for years to come. It was a truly historic day."

Gary Sullivan, chairman of Active Essex, said: "It's been a fantastic day for sport in Essex."

"We have worked hard with our partner organisations, including Visit Essex and the district councils, to host the Tour de France and make it a success."

"It is testament to this partnership work that so many people have come out to support the event."

"The tour also provides us with a great opportunity for a sporting legacy. I believe having the world's best cyclists in Essex will inspire more people to take up the sport and to get active and we now need to encourage and support them to do this.

"It builds on the legacy of the Olympic mountain bike event in Hadleigh in 2012, the Tour of Britain, and the Women's Tour earlier this year. I believe it will lead to more major sporting events coming to our county in the future."

Beneath a sunny sky we witnessed a great spectacle

A GROUP of Harlow cycling enthusiasts who led a party to see the Tour de France as it passed through Essex said their journey had been well worthwhile.

Around 40 cyclists set off from the Hub & Spoke centre in Bush Fair.

John Curry, vice chairman of Cycle Harlow and secretary of Stort Valley CTC, said: "Beneath a sunny sky we rode out across Harlow Common and through the Lavers to a good viewing point to await the arrival of the cyclists."

"Our group was soon joined by hundreds of local people, mostly arriving by bike, to view this great spectacle. We were not disappointed."

Mark Hall Academy Year 10 student Michael Brown, who was at Epping, wrote to the Star about his experience.

The 15-year-old said: "The riders came storming through the heart of Epping at about 3pm, which was about 20 minutes behind schedule, but that did not dampen the spirits of those who showed up."

"The racers were rockets as they stormed through the town. They were faster than every lorry, car, train and plane combined."

"I heard whilst I was in Epping that some people came from as far as Scotland, Wales, across Europe, and further."

Youngsters raise £1,500 in aunt's memory

TWO sisters and their friend have managed to smash their fundraising target after deciding to raise money for St Clare in memory of their aunt.

Alice Farrar, eight, Grace Farrar, six and Felicity O'Toole, eight, raised £1,500 for the hospice by hosting a sponsored walk and tea party.

Alice and Grace's aunt Sarah Aness, who was cared for at the hospice, died in March.

The trio, who live in Kent, decided to raise money for the hospice as a thanks to the care Ms Aness received while staying at St Clare.

Alice and Grace's mother Vikki Farrar, 41, said: "My sister lived in Ongar. She had cancer and the care she received when at St Clare was beyond kindness.

"The children decided to do something when she was ill. After she died and I explained about the hospice they came up with fundraising for St Clare. It was all their idea.

"They wanted to raise £104 but managed to raise £1,500 which is amazing. Charlotte [Felicity's mother] and I are very proud and they're so pleased to have raised so much."

Oddfellows help Salvation Army

THE Independent Order of Oddfellows has presented the Harlow Salvation Army with a £2,400 cheque.

The Oddfellows, which have a branch in Old Harlow, raised more than £2,000 through a number of events.

More than half of the money raised was through raffles and a collection at a church service at St James with St Luke's Church in Staple Tye raised a further £137.

Members were also asked to fill empty Smarties tubes with coins.

A spokesman for the Oddfellows Old Harlow branch said: "Many of our members, both in their local branches and throughout the district, and other people outside the society were very generous.

"We had a great pleasure in presenting the Salvation Army in Harlow with a cheque for £2,400."

Jewellery store host beach party

A JEWELLERY shop in the town centre will be hosting a family beach party on Saturday.

Discount Secondhand Jewellery store in Broad Walk will be raising money for Cancer Research UK. The Harlow store has already raised £250 for the charity with stores across the UK hoping to raising £20,000 for Cancer Research.

Staff at Discount Secondhand Jewellery are hoping to raise £1,000 and will be hoping to create the county's longest conga dance in a bid to boost their fundraising efforts.

The beach party event will be held at the Broad Walk store all day and the conga line will be started at 1.30pm on Saturday.

Fundraiser for Downs group

UPWARDS with Downs, a support group for children and adults with Downs Syndrome, will be hosting a fun day to raise funds for the group.

The event, which will be held at The Link, Parsloe Road, will include giant inflatables, a raffle and auction as well as music from Sax on Fire and Triple X. Paradise Wildlife Park will also have a stall for guests to meet their small animals.

Entry to the fun day on Sunday, July 27 is £1 with all proceeds going to Upwards with Downs.

Lifetime ban for pet owner guilty of rabbit neglect

A PET owner who was warned she could be jailed for causing unnecessary suffering to a rabbit has been spared a prison sentence.

Magistrates were told the three-year-old animal called Buzz had to be put to sleep by a vet because of the state of its teeth.

The court at Colchester imposed a 12-month community order on Sharon Jolley, 43, of Hillside, Harlow, and ordered her to complete 160 hours of unpaid work.

She was also ordered to pay £1,081 costs, a £60 victim surcharge and was banned for life from keeping rabbits. However she was told she could apply to have the ban lifted after 10 years.

The court was told the rabbit's teeth had grown to a length of seven centimetres and an RSPCA inspector described the case as the worst of its kind he had seen in a 15-year career.

The court heard Buzz was found extremely lethargic and in an emaciated and dehydrated state.

Lauren Bond, prosecuting for the RSPCA said the rabbit's upper and lower incisors had become misaligned and were not wearing down in the normal way so they needed to be cut.

The problem came to the notice of an RSPCA clinic when Jolley's father, who was looking after the pet while the defendant was away, had

star@hertsessexnews.co.uk

taken the rabbit to seek advice.

Mrs Bond told the court that Buzz would not have been able to eat and drink properly. As a result he was in an extremely poor state and had to be put to sleep immediately.

She continued: "It is a case of total neglect. Buzz had to be put down immediately, being beyond treatment. The photos are shocking."

Helen Dobby, representing Jolley - who pleaded guilty to two charges of failing to take reasonable steps to ensure the needs of the animal by not adequately trimming its teeth and causing unnecessary suffering - said in mitigation her client had taken Buzz to a vet and was advised that the problem could be an abscess, but was also told something would have to be done about the overgrown incisors.

Jolley thought she was following advice after being told he needed to put on weight before being given a general anaesthetic to deal with the problem.

Ms Dobby said Miss Jolley was very remorseful about what happened. At the time she was under extreme personal pressures but Buzz was being fed bread daily and was being given water from a bottle.

Memorials across town to be restored to mark centenary of the start of WWI

TWO of Harlow's war memorials are being restored and others cleaned in preparation for next month's centenary of the outbreak of the First World War.

Harlow Council has joined forces with the Royal British Legion, the Museum of Harlow, schools, churches and art groups to mark the anniversary and remember those who fought in the war as well as the contribution of women and people from ethnic minorities.

Work is under way to restore the memorials at Potter Street and Great Parndon as part of the commemoration events. The Potter Street memorial will be re-dedicated at a service to be held on Monday, August 4 - exactly 100 years to the day when Britain entered the war.

A working group has been set up to promote and co-ordinate local events and wants to hear from relatives of those who served in the Armed Forces during the 1914-18 conflict. It can be contacted via email to contact@harlow.gov.uk.

Work is also under way to identify the names and final resting places of those from the area who were killed during the war. These will be recorded in an illustrated book based on the original research by Arthur Graham and on a war memorials and war graves map in Harlow.

Meanwhile the council is urging groups or individuals to let it know of any events taking place to mark the centenary and will be publishing further events at www.harlow.gov.uk/events.

Penny's garden design wins a bronze medal at national show

A TEENAGER'S interest in gardening has blossomed after she was invited to display her horticultural design at a national competition.

Burnt Mill Academy student Penny Walker was the youngest person chosen to display at the BBC Gardeners World Live Show in Birmingham.

Penny, pictured above, who lives in Takeley, was awarded a bronze medal for her design which incorporated the city's motorways and canals to resemble a map made from flowers.

"My mum and grandma are really into gardening so I get my interest from them and always watch the Chelsea Flower Show on TV," said the 15-year-old. "My favourite subjects at school are art and technology so this enabled me to bring all of those aspects together.

"I was really hoping they would pick me to display at the show, but I thought maybe I might be too young. There were only 20 of us picked from 100 applicants and I was the only child selected."

Penny spent several months growing her own plants for the show and had four days to put the display in place for judging.

She said: "I think the older people were a little surprised I was in the same category as them, but they were impressed someone as young as me could produce what I did."

Penny's mum, Elizabeth, said: "She received lots of positive feedback from the judges and encouragement and advice from all sorts of people to help her to do even better next time and pursue her chosen career."

It's strictly business for Abigail

A BUSINESSWOMAN has opened a new hair extensions shop and is hoping her first venture will be a huge success.

Abigail Butler, 28, of The Stow, opened Strictly Xtended in Bush Fair last month after deciding to give her mobile business a more permanent home.

She said: "I was running a mobile service before and it picked up so much that I decided to open up the shop."

"All the services I provide are still the same but it means being able to offer more under one roof. It's like a one-stop shop for hair."

Strictly Xtended offers a range of different hair extensions and fittings.

Customers interested in getting hair extensions are offered a free consultation and a "tailor-made" service to find the perfect hair.

Ms Butler added: "We do different methods depending on what the client wants and in the consultation we will discuss what they need and want and what type of hair they are looking for before doing a colour match and everything else."

"Business has been good and we have a lot of new customers which is always good. I'm really enjoying it."

Jeannine Dooley of the Jolly Pods team said: "We spoke a lot about how we have grown the business from a suggestion and just celebrated everyone's contribution that helped make Jolly Pods a success in our first year."

Jolly Pods will also be holding a holiday club at a new venue in High Wych Primary School.

Hundreds enjoy mini-Olympics competition

CHURCH LANGLEY PRIMARY The Church Langley Way school welcomed more than 350 Year 1 and 2 pupils from schools across Harlow as part of the 2014 Sainsbury's school games mini-Olympics.

More than 20 teams took part in the all-day event with 48 sports leaders made up of Year 5 and 6 pupils helping make sure the mini-Olympics ran smoothly.

Supermarket Asda donated fruit and water for all the children involved, who were also awarded a medal for taking part.

PE co-ordinator Catherine Lewis said: "It is lovely to see the children enjoying such a myriad of sports and having such a wonderful time, even children who would not necessarily choose to participate in such events.

"We hope that the annual mini-

Olympics festival encourages children to join in with more sporting activities in and out of school. I know that all of the participating schools would join me in thanking acting sports games organiser for Harlow, David Stacey. "He has ensured all of the competitions and festivals have been able to take place for Harlow pupils throughout the year."

Students design model canal boats

TANY'S DELL PRIMARY Year 5 students spent a day at Mark Hall Academy's design and technology department creating their own canal boats.

Children from the Mowbray Road school, along with pupils from Fawbert & Barnard's Primary School in London

Road, spent a day designing, building and decorating small canal boats designed to carry gravel along a waterway.

Each boat was powered by an underwater air jet from a small balloon.

Prizes were awarded for best build, furthest distance travelled and most colourful boat.

Pauline Guinan, a teacher at Tany's Dell, said: "It was a brilliant day and the children loved it."

"The visit to Mark Hall was the perfect start to our design and technology week where my class have been creating board games."

Pupils get reading to write 1,000 reviews

LITTLE PARNDON PRIMARY Pupils at the Park Mead school have been on a literary mission to write 1,000 reviews by the end of the school year.

The young bookworms have been reading non-stop since the start of the year following Ofsted's suggestion in December for a push on reading.

The class with the highest number of book reviews won exclusive access to the school's bouncy castle summer event.

Headteacher Emma Bloomfield said: "Since January, we have had a huge drive on reading. We have revamped our library and brought in an online system which means children can research books and write reviews from home."

"Every class has a dedicated reading area and reads a novel together every day. "To give the children even more incentive to get reading, we held a competition to give the most active class half an hour of play on the 11 Go Bonkers bouncy castles, before the rest of the school and our families were invited to join in."

Ms Bloomfield added: "Our target is by the end of July, to have written more than 1,000 book reviews. We are seeing a far better attitude towards reading now; our children want to read."

It's unbeatable & it's now on!

Dive team break the world record

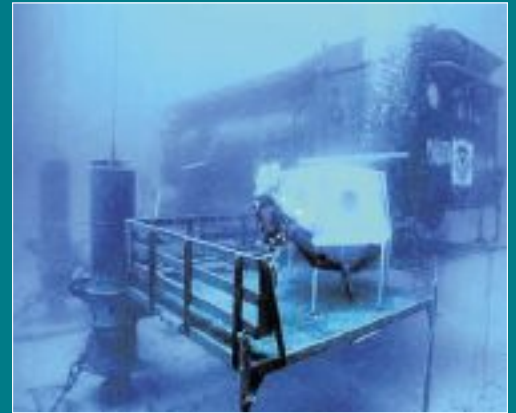

A TEAM of aquanauts has broken the record for spending the longest time underwater.

Fabien Cousteau, who is the grandson of the world-famous ocean explorer Jacques Cousteau, and colleagues Mark Hulsbeck and Ryan Lapete, lived for 31 days in the world's only underwater marine laboratory off the coast of Florida in the USA.

They spent their time investigating the effects of climate change and pollution on a coral reef.

"It was amazing how much it felt like home," Fabien told reporters. "I can imagine for someone who doesn't like tight spaces it could be difficult," he added.

The laboratory, which is situated 63ft below the surface of the water, has six bunk beds, a hot water supply, a mini kitchen, air conditioning and computers.

Fabian said some of his favorite experiences underwater included making friends with a porkfish and looking out the window and seeing sharks or a barracuda.

Fellow aquanaut Mark added: "We've all been to aquariums where you are watching fish. Well, there they were watching us."

Air ambulance pair do their bit to help spread 'yellow' fever

TWO members of the Essex Air Ambulance fundraising team have come up with a colourful way of raising money.

Senior fundraising co-ordinators Sabi Blyth and Jenny Macpherson were coated in yellow during a powder paint fight held to launch the 'Go Yellow' campaign.

The aim of September's campaign is to raise funds for the county's yellow helicopter.

The charity is now urging schools, businesses and residents to take part by holding yellow-themed activities during National Air Ambulance Week.

"We really want people to have fun with this so every yellow-themed idea is welcome," said Ms Blyth. "If you have any crazy ideas of what you would like to do, get in touch and we can advise you on how we might be able to help."

"Registering today will help us to keep our life-saving helicopter flying by raising vital funds and awareness."

To register to take part, contact Jenny on (0345) 2417690 or email jenny.macpherson@EHAAT.uk.com.

£5m 'milestone moment' for town's Enterprise Zone

BIANCA CASTRO

bianca.castro@hertsexnews.co.uk

CONSTRUCTION work in the Harlow Enterprise Zone will start towards the end of this year.

Government housing minister Kris Hopkins has announced a funding package which will pave the way for the demolition of some unusable buildings, the refurbishment of others and the installation of new power and telecommunications supplies in the zone which covers two sites in Templefields and London Road.

The £5m worth of funding - made up of a £2.5m loan from Homes & Communities Agency's local infrastructure fund and matched by a loan from Harlow Council - will be used to transform the former Nortel head offices.

Mr Hopkins made the announcement at a press conference last Wednesday during which he described the Enterprise Zone as an exciting opportunity for the town and its residents.

"This is about public investment to facilitate growth investment," he said. "The Government recognises the opportunity to get a huge amount of private investment and the exciting changes it will bring to the area and we are making a massive contribution to that."

He said it would clear the way for large-scale investment of private sector money in the creation of a new data centre campus and business park.

Mr Hopkins also spoke about the opportunities for young people, jobs and education. "This is about real jobs," he said. "A huge number of people will be taking a wage packet home as a result of the Enterprise Zone."

"This town has got an amazing opportunity. Whether it's the cleaner or the scientist, there will be a huge spectrum of jobs that will need to be fed by the local community.

"The Harlow Enterprise Zone will be driven by local leadership and individual business people."

Among those present at the press conference was Harlow councillor Tony Durcan, portfolio holder for regeneration and enterprise, who said: "This is a milestone moment for the future direction of Harlow. It shows the talking has stopped and the money-men have come."

"The council is committed to making sure we can bring real jobs for local people and I am absolutely delighted that we are all making this work. This is our legacy for the future of Harlow."

County shares in 'growth deal' cash

THE South East LEP - a voluntary partnership between councils and businesses covering Essex, Kent and East Sussex - will get £442.2m in one of the Government's 'growth deals' announced on Monday.

The money will help to create up to 35,000 jobs, allow more than 18,000 homes to be built and generate up to £100m in public and private investment in the region.

It will also provide support for businesses to train young people and start infrastructure projects, including transport improvements and superfast broadband networks.

The deal includes dualling and junction improvements on the A14 at Eastwick and Fifth Avenue in Harlow.

Prime Minister David Cameron said: "For too long, our economy has been too London-focused and too centralised. Growth deals will help change all that; they are about firing up our great cities, towns and counties so they can become powerhouses."

Also present were vice-chairman of the Harlow Enterprise Zone board John Keddie, deputy leader of Essex County Council Kevin Bentley and Professor Mike Thorne, vice chancellor of Anglia Ruskin University.

Essex County Council and Anglia Ruskin University will be working together to finalise details of a funding package for the development of a new medical technology innovation centre at the London Road site.

It would become the location for start-ups, entrepreneurs and SMEs as well as international companies in the initial stages of locating to the MedTech Campus.

Student Sophie shines at BTEC national awards

A HARLOW College student found herself in the spotlight when she won a national award for people studying BTEC qualifications.

Sophie Stacey was named the 2014 media BTEC student of the year during a ceremony hosted by television presenter Jameela Jamil at the Royal Horticultural Halls in London.

There were more than 1,000 nominations for the 20 award categories. Sophie, who is on course to achieve a triple-starred distinction and has been accepted at Ravensbourne College of Design and Communication to study a degree in film production, was nominated by her tutor Lorraine Love, pictured above presenting her with the award.

Sophie developed a marketing and PR strategy for Harlow College apprenticeships which the college's marketing department has since adopted.

"I am thrilled to win this award," she said. "My BTEC has helped me understand so much about media and has given me more self-confidence as well as the determination, motivation and the desire to accomplish my ambition of becoming a digital film producer."

College principal Karen Spencer added: "We are incredibly proud of Sophie; this award is a great credit to her and her teachers at Harlow College. To be selected as the outstanding BTEC student of the year is a fantastic achievement."

"At the same time she has made herself stand out from the crowd and secured a place on one of the top courses in the country for digital film productions."

"One of the key values we instil in students is to be your best and Sophie truly demonstrates this in all that she does - we hope to see great things from her in the future."

Mark Anderson, managing director of Pearson UK which owns Edexcel, the awarding body for BTECs, said: "This year's judges were impressed by the quality and number of nominations we received, but Sophie really stood out as a truly exceptional student at Harlow College."

Motorbike pair injured after hitting concrete block dropped in road

POLICE are appealing for information after a motorcyclist and his teenage son were injured after the bike they were riding hit a large piece of concrete in the road.

The pair were travelling from Roydon towards Harlow at 8.40am on Monday when the accident happened.

The two men, aged 43 and 17, were riding along Hamlet Hill when they rounded a bend and struck the concrete, described as being about the size of a breeze block.

They were both injured after being thrown from the white and blue Suzuki motorbike.

The father suffered a dislocated shoulder and bruising while his son had cuts and bruises. They were taken by ambulance to Princess Alexandra Hospital.

Police want to hear from anyone who was in the area before the accident and who may have seen an open-backed vehicle carrying concrete rubbish or can provide any witness information.

Firefighters stepping up industrial action in pensions dispute

FIREFIGHTERS in Harlow and across Essex are to escalate industrial action by staging a series of strikes over eight consecutive days.

The 15 walkouts, starting on Monday, are in addition to the strike planned for today (Thursday) from 10am and 7pm.

The Fire Brigades Union has dismissed the Government's current pension proposals as "unacceptable, unworkable, unrealistic and nothing short of a vicious attack".

As a result, daily stoppages are planned from Monday (July 14) to Thursday (July 17) from 6-8am and 5-7pm, Friday (July 18) from 6-8am and 11pm-1am, Saturday (July 19) from 11am-1pm and 11pm-1am, Sunday (July 20) from 5-7pm and Monday, July 21 from 6-8am and 5-7pm.

FBU general secretary Matt Wrack said: "The Government must realise that firefighters cannot accept proposals that would have such devastating consequences for their futures, their families' futures — and the future of the fire and rescue service itself.

"We have tried every route available to us to make the Government see sense over their attacks. Three years of negotiations have come to nothing because the Government is simply unwilling to compromise or even listen to reason, despite a huge amount of evidence showing their planned scheme is unworkable.

"Shorter strike periods have illustrated the strength of feeling amongst firefighters whilst limiting disruption to the fire service, the public and our members' working lives."

Essex Fire and Rescue Service said arrangements were in place to ensure cover is maintained across the county but has urged the public to keep risks to a minimum by following its 'be safer, be slower, be vigilant' guidelines.

Council 'prepared' for strike action

HARLOW Council has warned that some services it provides could be affected by national strike action today (Thursday).

Members of the public sector union Unison have voted in favour of action in a dispute over pay and as a result local government and school support workers across Essex will be going on strike.

The council said it will do everything it can to keep the impact of the strike on Harlow residents to a minimum.

Council leader Jon Clempner said: "Council staff up and down the country are planning to strike as part of a national pay dispute. We have made preparations and will try to minimise the strike's impact as best we can, but some services could be affected."

PUT YOUR FEET UP: Day therapy patient Hellen Hill has her toenails painted by Fran Groves

Hospice lays on a pamper day for patients

DAY care patients enjoyed a little extra TLC when St Clare Hospice held the latest in its All About You pamper days.

Beauty therapists, reflexologists and masseurs were on hand to offer their services to those who attend day therapy at the Hastingwood-based hospice.

The range of treatments included reiki, aromatherapy, reflexology, manicures, pedicures, facials and hairdressing.

Day therapy patient Hellen Hill, who enjoyed a manicure and pedicure provided by Fran Groves from Be Beautified, said: "These All About You days are wonderful in more ways than one. It's lovely to be pampered." Fran added: "My best friend's mum came to the hospice before she passed away so I know what amazing work St Clare does which is why I support the All About You days."

"It's nice to pamper people and to make them feel better, even if it's only for an hour or so."

Day therapy manager Emily Stowe said: "We feel it is really important to make people feel special and cared for when they are at a difficult time in their lives and this day helps to compliment the other services on offer at St Clare."

"Jacqueline Penhallow and Penny Brown, our complementary therapists, work hard to organise a relaxing and enjoyable day for all those involved. It is not possible to run the day without the help from our volunteer therapists and I would like to say a heartfelt thank you to all of those involved."

Joining Fran in donating their services for free were Stephi Gibson from Chillax, Joan Hair and Beauty, Jackie from Zest Holistic Beauty and Nails and Suzie Reflexology, Massage and Reiki.

Beauticians, hairdressers and therapists interested in supporting the next All About You day on September 29 should call the day therapy team on (01279) 773768.

Support comes from punk rockers Fugitive Isles and Venture. Admission is £5 (£4 members) and doors open at 8pm.

FRIDAY Following his appearance at Glenn Tilbrook's show at The Square in May and two sold out shows in London, former Bluetone Mark Morriss returns to Harlow... and this time he's bringing some friends. Tickets are £10 in advance and doors open at 8pm.

SATURDAY Having worked with Chuck Berry, Jackson Browne, Joe Cocker, Bob Dylan and Bruce Springsteen - to name but a few - Ian McLagan's musical career goes back to the early 1960s. In 1965 he joined the Small Faces and helped carve out a legendary back catalogue in a brief period culminating in 1968's classic album Ogdan's Nut Gone Flake. Mac went on to join Ronnie Wood and Rod Stewart in The Faces, playing on such top 10 hits as Stay With Me, Cindy Incidentally and Pool Hall Richard. Things are looking peachy for 'a little band from Harlow'

WITH a debut EP, interest from America and a host of impressive local performances under their belts, it's been a pretty good first year for The Albino Peaches.

The duo, Daniel Parkin (vocals/guitar) and Tommy Judd (drums) - who are currently joined by bass player Danny Shwe - formed in June last year and have been steadily making a name for themselves with their fascinating blues infused rock 'n' roll sound. And now they are hungry for more.

Daniel and Tommy first met during a gig at The Square and The Albino Peaches were formed.

"When we first started out we wanted something quite 60s sounding," said Daniel. "I'm a massive fan of that era, but we wanted something original too. It's difficult to put our sound in a box as one sort of genre."

Drawing on influences from early Oasis and Stereophonics to the Arctic Monkeys, Daniel says: "It's a big mix but it fits really well together."

After "dipping their toes in the water" by releasing a few tracks on Sound Cloud, the band launched debut single Gimme The Night back in April.

"The reaction was monumental," said Daniel. "We were getting prime time airplay on KEXP radio in the United States and in Europe. For a little band from Harlow I think that's quite impressive."

The band capitalised on this success by releasing four-track debut EP Memphis shortly after which again attracted a lot of attention overseas.

"To see where we have developed from in the last 12 months is great," said Daniel.

Talking about the band's future,

Tommy said: "We have been busy writing and getting a show together, we really enjoy playing live and want the fans to have the best time possible."

"Our next step is to record some more tracks and have something out by the end of summer."

You can catch the band at the Half Moon's Long Room in Bishop's Stortford on Saturday, August 2 or at LinkFest in Harlow Town Park on August 23.

Bard work is a lot of fun for large cast

ONE of Shakespeare's most popular comedies has started a four-night run at the Victoria Hall Theatre in Old Harlow and director Jane Miles hopes it will be accessible to everyone.

Harlow Theatre Company's 30-strong cast have promised a fast-paced telling of the Bard's pastoral comedy As You Like It.

The play has been delighting audiences for centuries and HTC promises its production will be no exception.

Jane said: "It has been hard work but everything has gone really well."

"We have a large cast but everyone has at least one or two speaking parts. It is a real piece of ensemble work that way and it's very busy but that's the fun."

"With Shakespeare's pastoral comedy you can have fun with it and though I have not set our telling of As

You Like It in any particular time or place I have tried to give it a contemporary feel." Jane, a self-confessed Shakespeare fan, said she has paid respect to the language but the production will be as much to do with the performance.

"It is very much us saying to the audience, 'you are in the theatre, we are actors and we hope you have as much fun watching as we do acting'."

Jane added.

"It is very much to do with the scale of the performance and I think that will make it a lot more accessible - even to Shakespeare cynics."

"I directed Shakespeare years ago, I have been in Shakespeare and watched Shakespeare plays but this is my first major Shakespeare directing."

"As You Like It is a lovely play and there are some wonderful characters that everybody can enjoy watching. I think it was just the amount of characters that really made me think this would be a really fun thing to perform."

>> As You Like It opened last night (Wednesday) and will be performed until Saturday, July 12. Performances start at 7.30pm each evening. Tickets cost £11 (£9 concessions) and can be bought online at www.ticketsource.co.uk/harlowtheatrecompany.

It's time to be water-wise

WE may have had the warmest spring on record, but last winter was also the wettest, so we are a long way from a drought and hosepipe ban.

However, with experts predicting the dry weather is here to stay, gardeners will be working out ways to save water.

The Royal Horticultural Society offers the following tips to gardeners who want to put the water where it's most needed:

- Established trees and shrubs do not generally need watering as they have such wide-ranging roots that they are drought-proof. However, their growth may be improved by watering when they are under drought stress
- Trees and shrubs planted less than five years ago have increased water requirements and may suffer drought stress without watering
- Newly sown or newly planted areas are very vulnerable to water stress, so watering these should be a high priority
- Herbaceous perennials often need watering to boost their performance in hot, dry spells. Plant choice is crucial if you want to achieve a drought-proof border. Drought-resistant plants include cordyline, hebe, lavender, Verbena bonariensis, eryngium, euphorbia, diascia, cosmos, gazania, nemesia and, of course, pelargoniums. Many drought-tolerant plants have silver or grey-green leaves, their light leaf colour reflecting the harsh rays of the sun.
- The yields and quality of vegetables and

By Hannah Stephenson

fruit are greatly improved by watering at times when drought stress would affect the part of the plant that is gathered. Leafy crops such as lettuce and spinach should never be short of water. Onions require little or no watering. Most other crops need watering at sowing and transplanting time, and then again as the fruits, roots or tubers are developing. It is also a good idea to give a single, thorough watering about two weeks before harvest.

- Lawns require great quantities of water for thorough irrigation, but instead of watering in dry periods, mow less closely and less frequently. Brown patches usually recover when the autumn rains return.

- Mulching with a layer of organic matter or gravel at least 5cm (2in) thick reduces moisture loss from the upper layers of the soil.

Less than three per cent of the annual water consumption of an average household is estimated to be from garden use, but at peak times as much as 70 per cent of water supplied may be used in gardens.

Even in dry districts, 24,000 litres (5,280 gallons or 150 water butts) could be collected from the roof each year, says the RHS.

ON THE WEB

Gardening tips and news

www.harlowstar.co.uk

Sean Laverick of the Homebase Garden Academy advises waterwise gardeners to store their water in water butts and invest in a water butt pump which enables you to use your hose with a water butt.

"Most garden watering should be aimed specifically at the stem bases beneath the foliage canopy, leaving the surrounding soil dry," he says. "This helps to limit weed problems and ensures all the water goes where it is needed."

If you are short of time, invest in seep hoses, which have holes in them to deliver water accurately to established plants and plants in rows. They can be hidden beneath soil or mulch, which also avoids evaporation losses and work best on heavy soil where the water spreads further sideways as it sinks than on lighter soils.

Automated irrigation systems are another option to save time and labour. They feature drip or trickle irrigation systems and some are remotely operated through sensors which can monitor when your soil needs watering.

Mix water storing gel in with the compost in your container plants, to save and store a lot of the water you normally use, the gel slowly releasing water to the roots.

Keep your soil as wet as possible - mulch on the ground surface prevents evaporation from the soil, providing increased moisture retention.

Some lawnmowers now have mulching plugs that return fine grass cuttings back on to the lawn's surface.

Finally, says Sean, don't panic: "Long-term weather predictions should still see summer rain which will allow plants to thrive over the summer, so just make sure you're making the most of the rain that comes your way."

Return of the robot wars

TRANSFORMERS: AGE OF EXTINCTION certificate 12A, 2h45m

IF director Michael Bay were immortalised on-screen as a robot in disguise, his mechanised alter-ego might be Maximus Kaboom. For two decades, the Californian film-maker has been elevating wanton destruction to a blockbusting art form.

In Armageddon, he pitted Bruce Willis and Ben Affleck against a gigantic asteroid on a collision course with earth while the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor provided him with a turbulent backdrop to his 2001 war opus.

Since 2007 he has been ensconced in the Transformers fold, bringing bombast to live-action adventures of the bestselling toys. It should come as no surprise, therefore, that this fourth instalment is crammed with Bay's usual visual excesses and motifs, including gleaming cars and a pouting female protagonist in hilariously short denim shorts.

Five years have passed since the Battle Of Chicago and the alliance between humans and robots lies in tatters. An elite CIA unit named Cemetery Wind under the control of Harold Attinger (Kelsey Grammer) hunts Transformers without mercy.

On a family ranch, struggling inventor Cade Yeager (Mark Wahlberg) discovers that a rusty truck he has just purchased is battle-scarred Optimus Prime (voiced by Peter Cullen). When agents from Cemetery Wind descend on the homestead, Optimus protects Cade, his daughter Tessa (Nicola Peltz), her boyfriend Shane (Jack Reynor) and Cade's mechanic sidekick Lucas (TJ Miller) in the ensuing gun fight.

The humans join forces with Optimus to reunite the Autobots - Bumblebee, Crosshairs, Drift and Hound - and the rebellion plots a swift response to inventor Joshua Joyce (Stanley Tucci), who has created his own Transformer army led by the mighty Galvatron.

Transformers: Age Of Extinction is another one of Bay's exercises in hyperkinetic style over substance. Screenwriter Ehren Kruger repeatedly defies logic to contrive outlandish scenarios for pyrotechnics and carnage, including an alien spaceship that sucks up metal then drops magnetically charged cars and boats onto terra firma.

Wahlberg punches and leaps through gaping plot holes, trotting out the concerned father routine as younger members of cast perform gravity-defying gymnastics to emerge from clouds of razor-sharp shrapnel without a graze or smudged lip-gloss.

Action sequences are an incomprehensible spew of glistening metal and explosions that hurt the eyes, especially in the large-scale IMAX format.

"The war will be over soon," barks Grammer's Machiavellian politician during a momentary lull. The buttock-numbing 165-minute running time says otherwise.

DAWN OF THE PLANET OF THE APES certificate 12A 2h10m

Man and apes embark on a spectacular collision course in the sequel to 2011's Rise of the Planet of the Apes.

Ten years have passed since apes and men went their separate ways after the battle of the Golden Gate bridge and mankind has been all but wiped out by simian flu.

Caesar (Andy Serkis), meanwhile, leads an evolving, peaceful ape society in the depths of San Francisco's Muir Woods. When a band of human survivors stumble across the ape village, Malcolm (Jason Clarke) and Ellie (Keri Russell) are eager to promote peace between the former enemies.

But they reckon without hot-headed survivalist Dreyfus (Gary Oldman), who leads an army of soldiers and is hell-bent on revenge! With the apes now carrying guns and developing a rudimentary language, the outcome is far from clear.

Weekly Comment

Punch up in Acacia Avenue!

Well it's almost true. The other day one of my Clients was badly let down by the couple he was buying from and nearly came to blows in the front garden!

You may not believe this but I promise, every word is true. At the beginning of February my client agreed to sell his home to a lovely local couple (almost neighbours) and buy a house "just up the road" from a couple who were going to down size into a flat.

Four months and a few weeks later, this couple who have pulled out of four purchases, changed about five different completion dates, then decided to just pull the plug and not move, just like that and they didn't even have the decency to tell anyone. We had to find out from a third party.

My client, nicknamed in the office as "Pitt ball", was not a happy man, not to mention the two other very angry families dependant on this deal having being let down as well.

It's dreadful, apart from the wasted monies, the strain of a straight forward deal is bad enough but this, it's almost criminal that people can get away with it.

In a way, I wished "Pitt ball" had clumped the other chap, OK, I understand you cannot condone violence, but if it did happen and reached court, I bet the Judge may well have sent them both down!

When reminded that the above mentioned had promised they would move whatever the question of moving out and renting was asked.

Reasonable request. But the last nail in the coffin for me was I had to ring the last family in the chain, (currently living with relatives until they can move) were just starting a holiday in Ibiza and it was their first day when I called with the bad news.

Whatever happened to integrity, promises and a hand shake on a deal?

And one other thing, we know of the couple who have caused this issue, we have since found out they have gazumped their previous buyers before our clients agreed to buy their home, nice people.

Scrap Cars

End of the road for your vehicle?

Responsible drivers scrap their vehicles at an Authorised Treatment Facility (ATF).

Because only an ATF can legally scrap a vehicle. That means any pollutants will be made safe before it's recycled in an environmentally friendly way.

What's more, for certain types of vehicle you'll get a DVLA approved Certificate of Destruction (CoD). A CoD proves that the ATF has told DVLA your vehicle has been scrapped and so is no longer your responsibility. www.direct.gov.uk/motoring

End of the road? Get over it and move on with your local ATF:

We offer free collection, on the same day if necessary, using our own recovery vehicles and issue a Certificate of Destruction from the Department of Vehicle Licensing Authority via our direct link to their website. Payment per vehicle negotiable.

Golden haul of medals as judo players rumble

ELEVEN players from Harlow Judo Club travelled to Southend to compete in the Red Belt Rumble.

Hosted by Southend Judo Club, Harlow took a strong team to the event and each player did their club proud.

The competition started off with a bang when Kane Horsley beat all opposition with the maximum ippon scores and took the gold medal.

Shortly after, Owen Lambert produced some good judo to beat all three opponents with the maximum score and won a gold medal also.

In the U-12 girls, Lucy Thomson and Aleena Muktiwawa were in the same group.

Despite being smaller than their opponents Lucy and Aleena battled through to take a gold and silver respectively.

Matthew Chapman was fighting in his first competition. After a shaky start Matthew composed himself and threw the highest graded player in the group with speed and force for the maximum score.

In the dying seconds of the final fight, Matthew got caught for the smallest yuko score and came away with a bronze medal.

Finlay Hampton produced some big ippon throws, beating his opponents with speed and force to win the gold medal.

Thomas Lambert and Mohammed Ali-Elhag won their fights with ippon throws, with Thomas showing off his technique and throwing his opponent with skill, and Mohammed displaying his determination throughout fights.

Thomas beat his club-mate in the final to win the gold.

Pia Saint triumphed in every fight with the maximum ippon score and came away with a gold medal.

Chloe Rogerson threw much stronger opponents than herself, showing some great technique and won her fights with the maximum scores to seal the gold.

George Bright threw his first opponent for the maximum score in a bout lasting less than five seconds.

He then threw his final opponent but landed awkwardly and broke an arm and had to retire, coming away with a silver.

"We all wish him a speedy recovery. Overall it was a good performance from Team HJC, but head coach Mick Ellis looks forward to making much needed improvements to the growing team," said a club spokeswoman.

Harlow are so close to victory in Southern Athletics League

HARLOW Athletic Club missed out on victory by just a point to Medway & Maidstone in their latest Southern Men's League division three meeting at Luton.

On a very hot and sunny day, 15 athletes turned out to contest this very closely-fought match.

Man of the match was won by Dave Bauer for his performances in the hammer (36.42m, first A string), shot put (11.13m, second A string) and discus (38.14m, second A string).

Personal bests were achieved by Peter Day (M45 age group) and Will Marklew (U-17) in the javelin with 50.75m and 49.96m winning the A and B string.

There were also PBs for Liam Mistry (1500m, 4:28.2 third A string) and Shemar Boldiszar (U-17 100m 11.9s second B string).

Stand out performances came from Bryn Thorpe in the 400m hurdles, winning the B string in 62.8s in his first outing in this event.

Boldiszar ran a storming third leg in the 4x400m to move Harlow from fourth to second and closely contending for first.

Last leg runner Carl Paxman could not quite close the gap on the winners Medway & Maidstone.

Glen Paxman pulled a hamstring running the last leg of the 4x100m for second place, again losing out to Medway & Maidstone.

He also won the B string long jump with a leap of 6.11m.

Another athlete making big strides was Donald Campbell, competing with the men's team for the first time. He took second place in the B 800m with 2:15.5 and second in the B 1,500m (4:44.2).

Team captain Bauer said: "Unfortunately on the day Medway and Maidstone won more events than us, despite some excellent performances from the team.

"However, what was really good to see was the great team spirit between the athletes with people stepping up when needed to cover events.

"We had the very welcome return of Jamie and Daniel Jephcott, who ran the 5,000m and 3,000m steeplechase.

"Will Marklew was a late replacement for Mohamed Tamedou in the high jump, winning the B string with a leap of 1.72m whilst competing in the javelin at the same time!

"Tamedou was replaced in the 200m by Adam Defoe for a good second place in the B string in 26.6s, although Adam had only come along to run in the relays.

"Medway and Maidstone fielded a decathlete, Martin Brockman, who won several events on the day and has been selected for the Commonwealth Games.

"It will be interesting to see if he can attend the next match on July 12 and how this affects the scores.

"The team are very keen to win our last match and make it to the play-off final on August 2 at Eton, who are leading the way in division one east."

Cowley's England team look set to triumph in European qualifier

GABRIELLA Cowley helped England dominate the European Ladies Amateur Team Championships.

England are three under par in the strokeplay qualifying part of the event in Slovenia.

Cowley, 18, of Threshers Barn in Harlow, shot a 69 on Tuesday and 71 yesterday (Wednesday).

The top 20 teams will go through to a knockout matchplay stage.

England were two shots clear of nearest rivals Sweden in the event in the Slovenian capital at the Ljubljana Golf & Country Club.

Cowley shot the third best round of the day on Tuesday.

She hit an excellent four under par in a round which included four birdies.

Her England team-mate Hayley Davis also hit a 69, but the best round was a 67 from Denmark's Cecilie Bofill.

England also dominated yesterday as Cowley hit four birdies in the first 11 holes.

However, a double bogey and a bogey on the back nine prevented her from an even better round as she gave most of her shots back.

She was tied sixth in the individual results as the Star went to press.

With England looking as if they will win this stage, they will likely be seeded first when the matchplay stage begins today (Thursday).

This will mean they should get easier opponents in the first round.

Some 120 players from 21 different countries are competing in the championships.

Before flying out to Ljubljana, Cowley felt confident and told the Star, "I think we have a good chance.

We have a strong team. We won the silver medal last time."

She was pleased with her performance at Royal St George's in the British Amateur Ladies Championships a fortnight ago, when she reached the last 16, adding: "The course was really good. It was the first time I had played it.

"In the last match my putting was just not very good. I have been working on that.

"My opponent [in the last 16 match] did not hit it any better, she just putted better."

Cook feels heat but ex-Test stars pledge their support

UNDER-fire England captain Alastair Cook has received strong support from former Test players, writes DAVID RIMMER.

Speaking to the Star at the Harlow Town Cricket Club and Lashings charity matches, West Indies legend Gordon Greenidge, South Africa batsman Herschelle Gibbs, India batsman Wasim Jaffer plus ex-England Test players John Lever and Ed Giddens, all gave their support to the 29-year-old Essex opener, who has endured a torrid spell over the past 12 months.

He went into yesterday's opening Test match against India not having scored a Test hundred in the last 12 matches.

Cook has also received severe criticism for his on-field tactics not least from legendary Australia leg-spinner Shane Warne.

The 5-0 hammering in Australia and recent Sri Lanka series loss have wiped out the memory of three earlier series wins under Cook.

Greenidge feels England should stick with Cook as captain.

The 63-year-old former West Indies Test opener was a feared opponent for many opening bowlers with his brutal strokeplay.

Greenidge believes that more patience needs to be shown by the public and press.

He said: "The British people and media are very harsh if you lose a series. They want to get rid of a captain if a team loses.

"I am sure not scoring runs does not help [for Cook] but others have to perform too."

He added: "If they get rid of Cook who will come in? Bell cannot do it and nor can Anderson and Broad.

"Prior has only just come in to the team after an injury and he was out of the team before [he was dropped in the Ashes series]."

Greenidge was a member of the West Indies side that dominated world cricket between 1976 when they beat England 3-0, until the early 1990s.

He realises even teams more gifted than England can go through slumps.

Greenidge was in the West Indies side that was thrashed 5-1 in Australia in 1975/76.

He said: "England used their conditions and beat Australia last summer. I do not think Australia were given enough credit for what they did against England in the winter."

Former England and Sussex fast bowler Ed Giddens firmly backs Cook.

"There will be people more qualified than me who will criticise his tactics," he said.

"I do not remember too many people complaining when we won the Ashes last summer. You do have bad form."

He added: "I remember when Nasser Hussain had a bad run with the bat when he was captain but they kept faith with him. I would not go with Bell. He is not a leader.

"With someone like Alastair Cook he has earned the right for more time through what he has done."

Former South Africa batsman Gibbs was also supportive.

"The public are impatient and want results but England are in transition," he said.

"I would back Cook. He has a good record. All players have dips in form and sometimes they go on for a long time."

Former India Test player Jaffer said England may have to consider Cook's position shortly.

He said: "If England lose to India I think they may have to change.

"Ian Bell would be a candidate. He has played 100 Tests and is the most consistent player."

Former England and Essex medium fast bowler Lever said: "It is a media frenzy and he is not scoring the level of runs he would like.

"A lot of time has been invested in Alastair Cook and I do not think [England coach] Peter Moores will panic. There is nobody else that should be captain."

He added: "There is also the problem that none of the others in the England team has had much experience of captaincy in county cricket.

"However it is a different matter if Alastair Cook feels it is affecting his batting."

BATTLING FOR FORM: England skipper Alastair Cook

Title charge dented as depleted Town pay for poor day in field

THE promotion charge of Harlow Town was dented by a heavy defeat against title rivals Woodford Green in division three of the Shepherd Neame Essex League on Saturday.

Stand-in skipper Neil Gladwin won the toss and elected to bat.

Although Town were missing two key seam bowlers, the introduction of the in-form Mohammed Hassan Ali gave the visitors hope.

Green was in trouble at 45-4 when Rana Arslan and Rehan Khan found themselves with a big rebuilding job to do.

Twelve catches were put down and the fortunate Arslan was dropped nine times.

With the exception of the seamers Dan Calver (4-44) and Ali (1-30) the rest of the bowling was below standard.

The Woodford pair put on 186 for the fifth wicket, before the returning Calver had Khan lbw for 44.

Arslan was finally dismissed for 165 late in the innings as Woodford posted 285-8 from 50 overs on what was now a rapidly deteriorating wicket.

Ramya Upadhyay finished with 3-50.

A classy knock from Joe Holland (99) was all Town had to show as the other batsmen struggled.

He fell agonisingly one run short of what would have been a well-deserved maiden century for the club. Shiraz Ali (11) chipped in as the visitors were dismissed in 33 overs for 154.

Gladwin said: "We definitely missed Ashley [Alderson] and Dan Farmer this week, both would have been a handful on that wicket.

"Having said that I would back our slow bowlers every week to hit the right areas and our fielders to take the majority of chances presented.

"Today was just one of those days where after a good start just about everything went wrong.

"Joe's innings was exceptional, and whilst 285 was far too many to concede, if one or two of the other senior players had managed to stick around and build an innings it could have been different.

"On the whole though we got what we deserved which was very little."

Town, who stay top after picking up five points from the loss, host Old Brentwood this Saturday.

Harlow Town seconds (228-7 dec) drew with Woodford Green twos (149-8).

Tim Poulter (48) batted well, while Town skipper Jason Gladwin and new batsmen Ben Eversden were excellent.

Eversden hit a classy 46 off 28 balls.

Gladwin was bowled for a gritty 85 late in the innings.

In reply, when Simon Rowell (5-40) dismissed

Woodford skipper Barry Leigh for 34 and Jason Takavarasha for 43, Town began to scent victory.

Eversden capped a good day with 2-14 from eight overs.

But Marc Cologne was resolute in defence and finished on 19 not out to see Green hold out for the draw.

Undeclared Town picked up 11 points keeping them in second place.

Stanford-le-Hope threes (211-5) beat Harlow Town threes (210-9) by five wickets.

For Town, Johan Cloete played the innings of the day, scoring a fluent 75, while Nick Teale struck 42.

Geoff Lake scored 67 as Town rued below-par bowling.

Teale (2-32) was the pick of the bowlers.

The thirds remain second and 21 points behind leaders Loughton.

Harlow Town fours (200 all out) lost by three runs to Stanford-le-Hope fours (203-8).

Town skipper Tom Wilcox led the way with 4-39 from 16 overs.

Chris Sharp made 86 not out for the visitors.

Wilcox (109) struck a maiden ton in reply, but the innings came to an end four runs short of victory with two overs remaining.

The last seven batsmen only managed 18 runs between them.

In-form Qadir 'destroys' Southend in superb win

VICE-captain Jon Perry beamed that batsman Imran Qadir – the son of legendary Pakistan leg spinner Abdul – "destroyed" the Southend-on-Sea attack as Harlow sealed a six-wicket win in the Shepherd Neame Essex League division one on Saturday.

The hosts were inserted on a slightly damp track.

Bowlers Nicky Baxter and Luke Monger tore through the opposition line-up, as Baxter bowled captain Joe Robbins for a duck, and had Joe Sibbons and Phil Gray caught.

Monger removed opener Oliver Wagstaff (8) and Ross Daynes (3), as Harlow held on to key catches, with Joe Riddell, Ahmed Khawaja, Imran Qadir, Nino Calvino and Anthony Webb all displaying safe pairs of hands.

Southend were reeling at 60-7.

Matthew Wagstaff (26) and Dale Hackney (18) provided some lower order resistance, but Southend were dismissed for 112. Pick of the bowlers was Baxter, who finished 4-32, while Luke Heskett and Webb grabbed two apiece.

Harlow were merciless in their reply and took just 16 overs to reach their target. Qadir continued his recent good form by notching up 58, and fellow opener Perry managed 20.

Khawaja hit a monstrous six down the ground and in to the river, and Webb finished the job with a lofted four over mid on.

Perry said: "We got a fantastic start by winning the toss, with conditions and the wicket favouring bowling. Outstanding opening spells from Nicky and Luke [Monger] never gave Southend a chance, and they were well supported by excellent fielding and first change bowlers.

"Imran's commanding innings ensured that Southend never got a glimpse – he destroyed the Southend attack."

The win moved Harlow to seventh, 14 points clear of relegation.

Harlow IIs secured their first win of the season as they also beat Southend-on-Sea, at Marigolds.

Having been put in to bat, a superb 109 from Surath Bastola saw Harlow declare on 233-8, before dismissing Southend for 161. Lewis Aldred (5-45) was excellent.

The 25 points took Harlow out of the relegation zone.

Harlow thirds remain top after beating hosts Fives and Heronians (169).

Soulet Ali (5-46 and 46) shone for Harlow, who posted 172-3 (Alan Burton 41).

Centuries from Harlow fourths pair Ken Aldred and Dipender Basnet in an unbroken 200 second-wicket stand (244-1 declared) proved in vain as negative Fives & Heronians made 130-7 to snatch a draw.

Paringdon Lions roar to treble in stunning season of triumph

THREE was the magic number for the Paringdon Lions U-11 football team after an amazing season which saw them crowned West Essex & East Herts League champions, League Cup winners and Alex Arnold Cup winners for the 2013/2014 campaign.

The season started promisingly with victory against Elsenham in the Charity Shield seeing them secure their first piece of silverware.

Hard work and consistency was key during the league season as the undefeated team won 12 of 14 matches, sealing 38 points from a possible 42 to win their second league title in three years.

Defenders Ryan Wood, Myles Baldock and Hadley Richards have been crucial – only seven goals were conceded during the league season.

Keeper Jel Leese secured nine clean sheets with some fine saves as his confidence grew throughout the campaign. The midfield provided creativity and lightning pace on the wings with contributions from the talented Jack Haley, Charlie Powell and Blake Mizen-Smith, with the consistent Albie Wickenden commanding the centre of the pitch with box-to-box displays.

The midfielder notched 34 of the Lions' impressive season tally of 86 league goals.

The forward line was spearheaded by Pablo Soloman, top scorer with 17 goals, Lenny Simkins (16 goals) and Alex Head (11 goals).

All three netted hat-tricks, with Pablo bagging three in total.

The treble was secured at The Harlow Arena with an incredible win over close rivals Summers Cobras in the League Cup final.

The Lions, who are managed by Tony Wickenden, were 4-0 down going into the break, but showed real character and determination to triumph 5-4.

Hawks lose veteran Brown but top stars agree to stay

BY ALAN SCOTT

alan.scott@hertsessexnews.co.uk

HAWKS boss Danny Chapman has revealed the Star that he has lost seven of the squad that reached the Ryman division one north play-off final but has been boosted by the return of league top scorer striker Alex Read.

The retirement of former Leyton Orient and Barnet player Danny Brown as player-coach, who has quit Harlow Town completely to concentrate on managing his seven-year-old son's team, is arguably the biggest blow to Chapman.

However, Read, left-back Layne Eadie and central defender Josh Urquhart have rejected deals at Conference South and Ryman premier clubs to stay at The Harlow Arena as Chapman targets the title this year.

Striker Leon Antoine has joined Ryman premier side Witham, who beat Harlow in the play-off final to go up.

Midfielder John Glowacki has joined Grays Athletic. Right winger Junior Dadson has left to join Hornchurch.

Right-back Donny Barnard has retired from the game after a series of niggling injuries over the last few seasons, while goalkeeper Danny Knowles has also quit.

Midfielder Scott Curley has been released by Chapman, who wants to sign a keeper to give Ed Thompson competition, plus a centre-half, a right winger and possibly a striker.

Along with Read, Eadie and Urquhart, the Hawks boss has been further boosted by the news that brothers James and George Smith, winger Shane Stamp, right-back Robbie Martin and central midfielders Fabion Simms and Stan Muguo will remain at the club.

Chapman said: "We have managed to keep the majority of the players. But Danny Brown's knees feel no good. He won't be involved at all. I want to thank him for everything he has done for the club. I have been close to him – he is my best friend."

The Hawks boss was delighted to keep Read, Eadie and Urquhart, however.

"Scoring as many goals as Alex did, obviously I wanted to keep him. It's a credit to the football club that these players want to stay. They all had offers from higher clubs," added Chapman.

"Alex was not interested in going. He is happy at Harlow. Josh had two offers but wants to stay. And Eadie had a very good offer. Layne said he just enjoys his football at Harlow and wanted to stay.

"I am really pleased with all the people who have come back."

Harten wants to be a Glasgow golden girl

England netball star targets victory at Commonwealths

BY ALAN SCOTT

alan.scott@hertssexnews.co.uk

HAVING been voted the most valuable player in the best netball league in the world this season, Harlow's Jo Harten is ready for gold medal glory as she targets Commonwealth Games success with England.

The campaign gets under way on July 25 against Wales and the former St Mark's School student is determined to deliver on the big stage in Glasgow.

For Harten (25), one of the most important players in the team at either goal attack or goal shooter, this could be her last chance to win a gold medal at the Commonwealth Games, having finished with bronze at the competition in Delhi four years ago.

She told the Star: "It's a really exciting time to be part of the team. England is going to be in with a great chance of winning a medal."

England have a tough start with Wales and then Australia in their first two games, on July 25 and 26.

"It's going to be a gung ho start, but there are no easy ones. We need to finish in the top two to go through. It's really important to finish top of the group," she said.

"We have won games against Australia in the past and we need to push on from there. "It's an exciting team this time. There's a real blend of youth and experienced players."

Harten believes England have a great chance of winning gold, let alone a medal and the team is the best she has ever played with at a Commonwealth Games.

"I think the preparation has been the best, this is the best prepared England team we have ever had. Anna Mayes is a great coach. We are really focused on that one goal. We want to get to that gold medal play-off."

DETERMINED: Jo Harten in action against Australia

Harten has been playing semi-professional in the ANZ League for the last two seasons.

She only returned from New Zealand at the end of June after helping her Kia Magic side reach the end-of-season play-offs.

They lost in the semi-finals to Queensland. The play-off final was won by Melbourne, who feature Harten's England team-mate Geva Mentor.

"It has been a really fantastic time this year. I play alongside the New Zealand captain [Casey Kopua at Kia Magic]," explained Harten.

"We have one of the best defences in the world, so I know what I will come up against if we play New Zealand."

Harten says the fact that she is one of five England players who have been playing in the ANZ League – the best in the world – will stand the national team in good stead.

Her team finished third in the ANZ to qualify for the end-of-season play-offs.

"It was the first time I had made the finals. I was voted the most valuable player. It was really positive for me. I have to take heart from that. This was a great build-up to the Commonwealth Games."

Harten helped England to a bronze medal at the last Commonwealth Games in Delhi, India.

But this time around they are missing injured captain Pamela Cookey (Achilles).

"That was devastating for her. It was in the Super League play-offs. It was bad timing. It was a terrible injury and such bad luck," said Harten.

However, Harten still believes the team is so much stronger than in previous years because so many players are playing week in, week out against the top netball players in the world.

"We have grown over the last 18 months to two years and we know what we are capable of, whereas there was a question mark over us going into previous tournaments. We know we have a point to prove. We are a force to be reckoned with," she beamed.

Hawks eye four players

DANNY Chapman will step up his bid to sign a centre-half after Hawks skipper Darren Blewitt dislocated a shoulder in a work accident.

He could be out for at least two months. Harlow Town play their first pre-season friendly at home to Enfield 1893 tomorrow (Friday), and host Ryman premier Enfield Town on Friday July 18.

Chapman is targeting the Ryman division one title next season, after the Hawks missed out on promotion when they lost 3-0 at Witham in the play-off final last season.

But the Harlow boss says more clubs will have more money to spend in division one north next term. "I am looking at bringing in three or four players. This year it will be very competitive. A lot of teams are throwing money around. I have spoken to some players and the money they are being offered is phenomenal. The aim is to get promoted. We need to go and win the title," he said.
